

Ruth Wightman

Fine Art Artist

Ruth Wightman has a degree in fine art from Canterbury College and a post graduate diploma in graphic origination from the London College of printing.

After a number of years teaching art for colleges she now works for Young Masters Visual Art School and also teaches art in a range of settings including schools, community centres, and museums.

Ruth has an art studio where she paints and teaches. She is a practising artist, selling and exhibiting paintings and drawings and writes and illustrates children's books.

Her work can be seen on her websites www.art-star-online.com and www.art-star.co.uk

